

2016 Income: $409,845*

- Support from our donors was instrumental in covering some of the costs of programs, such as the Money for Our Movements Conference, keeping fees as low as possible for participants.
- The general support grants we receive from progressive funders strengthen our programs and infrastructure.
- Fees, subscriptions, and other products rely on donations and grants to help keep costs down for small and grassroots groups.

*Income received in 2015 was reserved for 2016, which provided sufficient assets to cover expenses during 2016.

2016 Expenses: $477,118

- Administrative costs are an investment in the healthy working environment and infrastructure that keep our programs high quality.
- Volunteers help keep our fundraising and event expenses low.
- The 2016 Money for Our Movements conference was held in Denver, CO. Over 600 social justice fundraisers and activists joined us to gain skills, share knowledge, and build community with one another.
- We provided training and consultation to groups around the country to strengthen their grassroots fundraising and connections with their communities.
- Grassroots Fundraising Journal subscribers are provided with inspiration and practical strategies that support diversifying sources of funding for small- and medium-sized organizations.
